

Please continue to make it possible for smaller telecommunication companies like sonic.net to operate without raising their competitive fees which currently match with the large companies like SBC.

I do not wish to see DSL services run over and squashed by the large companies like SBC, AOL etc.. Small businesses have a right to operate at decent prices to the public, additionally their services are far superior to those of the homogenized large conglomerates. Thank you.